Report on activities undertaken by GoodFood Market Corp during the 2023 exercise to fight against Forced Labour in Canadian Supply Chains

Introduction:

At Goodfood, we are passionate about connecting our partner farms and suppliers to our customers' kitchens while eliminating food waste and costly retail overhead. Providing fresh, delicious meals to our customers across Canada, we are driven by a commitment to uphold ethical practices in every aspect of our operations, which includes a strong opposition to forced labour and the defense of human rights principles within our supply chain.

Our Approach to Ethical Sourcing:

As a leading meal solution brand in Canada, Goodfood has suppliers located in Canada and the United States who source food products and packaging locally as well as from other countries. Goodfood assembles and produces meal-kits and ready-to-eat meals in our Canadian production facilities and through local co-manufacturing partners.

Recognizing the importance of responsible sourcing and sustainability, Goodfood has yet to implement in-depth due diligence processes, deploy training programs for employees on the identification of forced labour or child labour, or deploy effectiveness assessment programs. During the 2023 exercise, no risks relative to forced or child labour have been identified in our supply chain.

We are dedicated to ensuring that our supply chains reflect our high standards for quality and ethics. Read more about Goodfood's commitment to sustainable supply chains here:
